PACKERS HIRE
MORE HELP IN CATTLE RUSHPOULTRY, EGGS AND
WHEAT CONTINUE TO DECLINE

Chicago, Oct. 18 (AP)—The packing industry assembled work crews at top speed today to convert a sustained rush of cattle, sheep and hog receipts into meat for consumers' dinner tables.

Receipts at the major markets fell below yesterday's levels, which set a 10 months high in some markets, but still were three times as heavy as offerings a year ago. Cattle and sheep prices fell today but hogs reversed the price decline which, the avalanche of offerings caused yesterday.

On the commodity markets, meanwhile, cotton, wheat, eggs and poultry continued the price decline which started when meat controls were removed Tuesday. Corn, soybeans and flax prices went up.

Plants Not Prepared

Sources in the packing industry said a dribble of this week's heavy livestock receipts already had found its way to butcher shops but that several more days would be needed to move even a "fair" supply into retail outlets.

The deluge of live animals found the packers not fully prepared for the rush. Work crews, laid off during the meat shortage, are being organized rapidly so the plants can approach capacity operations.

Receipts at 12 major markets today totaled an estimated 45,000 hogs compared with 135,000 yesterday and 17,032 a year ago. Cattle was estimated at 53,300 today, 85,000 yesterday and 15,725 a year ago, while sheep were 60,000, 74,400 and 35,786.

In the Chicago market, most hog sales were $1 to $2 above yesterday's average while all classes of cattle were $1 to $2 lower. Slaughter lambs were off $5.00.

Shoppers Choosy

As the nation faced the prospect of comparatively ample meat supplies in the near future, but at higher prices, evidences of price resistance began to appear.

The American Meat Institute advised consumers to "shop around for the best buys" in meat. The Food Retailers of Greater Chicago urged their members to "operate fully" to hold prices down. In New York, many butchers reported one out of every three meat customers was turning away.

Riots Spread Over
300 Square Miles
Of Eastern Bengal

Calcutta, Oct. 18 (AP)—An Indian relief official declared tonight that Hindu-Muslim rioting had spread over 300 square miles of dominantly Moslem districts on eastern Bengal, affecting, "not less than 100,000" people and that refugees were fleeing from the trouble zone.

In New Delhi Mohandas K. Gandhi, spiritual leader of the Hindu-led Congress party, advised women in eastern Bengal to take their own lives rather than submit to dishonor, and in Bombay the provincial Congress chief called for halting of all business activity as a demonstration of sympathy for riot victims.

Gandhi said he felt a "call" to go to the trouble areas as soon as the situation in New Delhi permitted. He said that at his request J. A. Kripalani, newly-elected president of the congress, and Sarat Chandra Bose, recently retired member of the interim government had gone to investigate the riot reports.

Price Decontrol
Staff Dispersed;
Two Spurn $12,000

Washington, Oct. 18. (AP)—The price decontrol board today ordered a slash of about 50 per cent in its staff and disclosed that two board members have declined to accept their $12,000 yearly salaries.

In announcing the staff reduction to leave only "a skeleton force of less than ten persons," D. W. Beman Jr., information officer, told a reporter salary checks had been declined by board members George H. Mead, Dayton, Ohio pulp and paper manufacturer, and Daniel W. Bell, Washington banker and former government official.

Board Chairman Roy L. Thompson is accepting his pay checks, Beman said. He explained that Thompson was required to relinquish his duties as president of the Federal Land Bank at New Orleans temporarily and to devote "much more time and travel to the board's work."

The decision to cut the staff from its present strength of 18 was made, Beman said, when the board began reorganizing its work in the light of decontrol policy and the administration's accelerated decontrol program.

There are no petitions for decontrol before the board now but the law requires the board to remain in existence. The law states further that a secretary shall be on hand to keep the office open each working day to receive any petitions for price decontrol and carry on other duties.

Beman said there is no estimate yet as to how much money will be saved by the staff reductions. The board began operation last July 29 with a budget of $250,000. It had a staff of 20 plus the three board members some weeks ago.

SHIPPING TIEUP
DUE FOR BREAKMarine Engineers Will Resume Negotiations
Today In New York

(By The Associated Press)

Two unexpected developments raised hopes Friday for an early break in stalemate blocking settlement of the 18 day old nationwide maritime strike and the 25 day old Pittsburgh power strike.

The CIO marine engineers announced they would resume negotiations with Atlantic and Gulf Coast ship owners in New York Saturday in the first efforts at settling their strike in a week.

The union had announced yesterday its representatives were scattering from Washington to home ports because the labor department was unable to get all parties to the capital for a conference. Negotiations have been underway in New York between the Atlantic and Gulf operators and the AFL masters, mates and pilots, which also is on strike.

In Pittsburgh, George L. Mueller, president of the Independent Union on strike against the Duquesne Light Company, said a general membership meeting would be held Sunday to vote on the question of arbitration of strike issues. The union has sought a 20 per cent wage increase and settlement of 10 other proposals. The company has proposed arbitration.

In Washington Federal Conciliator Clyde Mills, called in to attempt settlement of a week-long strike in 18 Washington hotels, said "both sides now agree to accept arbitration."

He added the government was recessing negotiations it called hopelessly Friday morning. The AFL Hotel Union originally asked hourly wage boosts of 10 cents for employees receiving no tips and 15 cents for others.

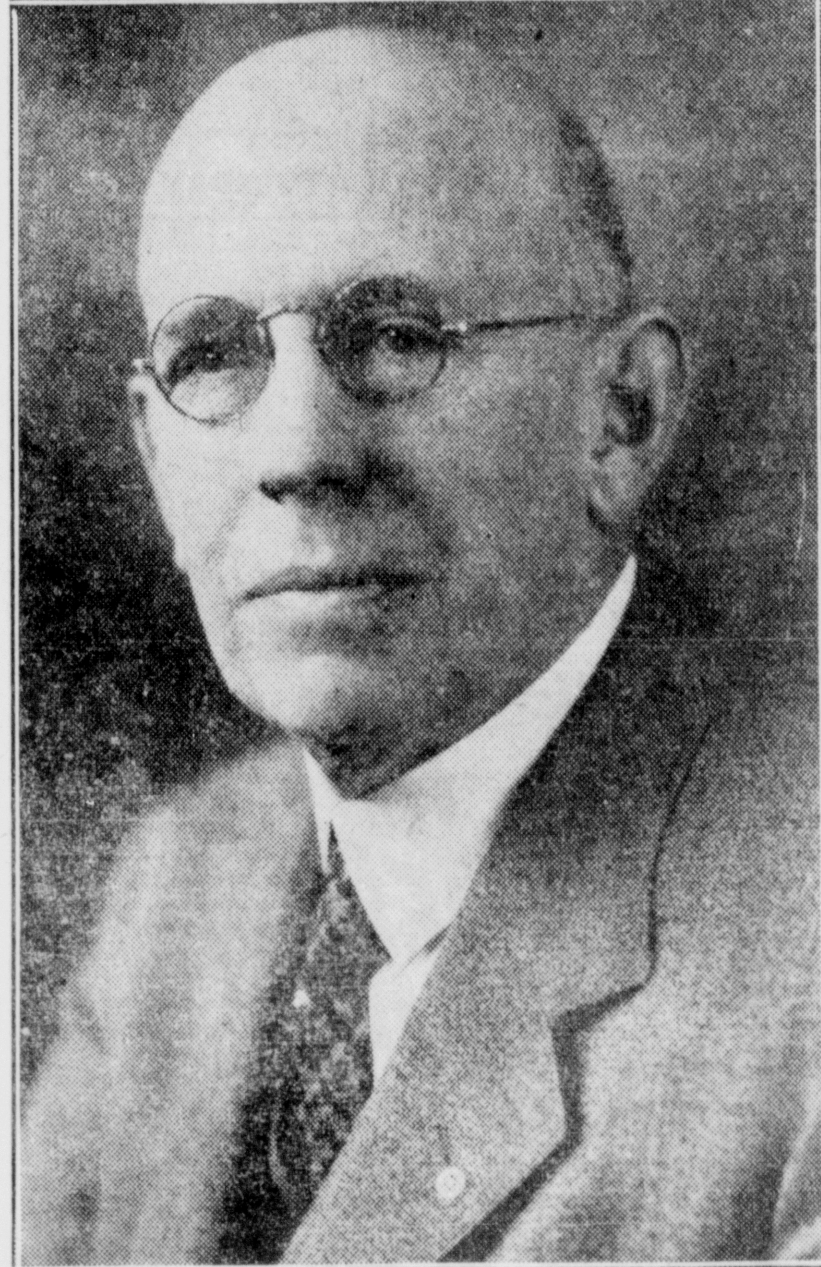

Collision With Bus
Kills Mother Going To Wedding Of Son

Hillsdale, Mich., Oct. 18 (AP)—A Detroit mother was injured fatally today as she and her son drove to Chicago where he was to be married.

Victims of the tragedy were Mrs. Bessie Glazer, 60, of 4079 Fullerton, and Atty. Reuber Glazer, 24.

Mrs. Glazer died a few minutes after their auto struck a tree off US-112, east of Jonesville. State police said Glazer apparently lost control of the vehicle as he attempted to pass a bus and veered off the road.

The attorney was admitted to Hillsdale Community Health Center in temporarily serious condition suffering from multiple cuts and bruises and loss of blood.

W. R. SMITH

William R. Smith Dies
After 4-Year Illness

William R. Smith, president of the Delta Hardware company and prominent in civic affairs here for nearly half a century, died yesterday morning at his home at 316 South Fifth street. He had been ill for the past four years, following a stroke which he suffered on October 20, 1942.

Mr. Smith was born in Wapello, Iowa, on Dec. 17, 1868. His father, W. P. Smith, and his mother, the former Hulda Herrick, returned to their native New York state when W. R. Smith was a child, and he received his early education in Baldwinsville, N. Y., where he was graduated from the high school. Later he attended the University of New York.

Mr. Smith began business in the employ of Parshall and Seale company, Syracuse, N. Y., wholesale and retail dealers in hardware, where he remained for one year. He next became associated with Kennedy and Spaulding company, a wholesale hardware firm, where he became order clerk. Later he moved to Chicago, where he accepted a similar position with Hibbard, Spencer, Bartlett company, eventually becoming a salesman for the organization, being assigned in January of 1932 to the territory of Upper Michigan. He continued in this position until Jan. 1, 1900, when he bought an interest with W. W. Oliver and reorganized the Delta Hardware company at Escanaba. Mr. Smith became president and general manager; R. E. McLean was vice-president, and W. W. Oliver secretary and treasurer.

Mr. Smith's marriage to Miss Maud McKana, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. McKana, took place in Escanaba in 1897. They had one son, William John, who took over the management of the Delta Hardware company in 1942 when his father became ill. The son was killed in an airplane crash near Sault Ste. Marie on Feb. 14 of this year.

Active In Community

W. R. Smith was active in a great many civic and business organizations. He was elected to the board of directors of the State Savings Bank on Jan. 10, 1911, and became president of the bank on March 18, 1920, a position which he held until his death. He was a member of the Escanaba Rotary Club, and served at one time as president of the organization. He also served on the board of trustees of St. Stephen's.

Shipments Of Pipe To Russia Is Ordered Canceled By UNRRA

Washington, Oct. 18. (AP)—Under Secretary of State William L. Clayton has notified Governor Earl Warren of California that UNRRA will cancel an order calling for delivery of 183 miles of steel pipe to Russia, informed government officials said tonight.

Earlier, the treasury department said that the 6-months-old order for Russian delivery, which the department had placed at the UNRRA's request, carried no priority or preference.

Governor Warren had protested to the state department against what he termed a preferential position given the Russian order. He said it would seriously delay construction on a 1,200-mile natural gas pipeline from Texas to California.

Clayton was reported to have told Warren that the cancellation would be effective October 21 and that the Russian government would be notified of the action.

Washington, Oct. 18. (AP)—The slow progress toward peace, he said, "the very root of our difficulties may be a belief by Soviet leaders that another war is inevitable." His thesis was that such a fear, not only in Russia but elsewhere, increases tension and brings about conditions which prevent world recovery.

He thus almost directly challenged assertions by Prime Minister Stalin that he does not fear another conflict.

Without specifically naming Russia, he declared that the way to international amity is through reconciliation of differences and that no states should "arbitrarily exercise their power of veto, preventing a return to conditions of peace and delaying economic reconstruction."

Possibly having in mind Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov's declaration that he would continue to fight some of the majority decisions of the Paris peace conference—such as that on Trieste—Byrnes declared "no state should assume that it has a monopoly of virtue, or of wisdom. No state should ignore or veto the aggregate sentiments of mankind."

"From the Potsdam conference, which took place at the beginning of his administration," Byrnes said, "President Truman and I have worked and we shall continue to work to bring about an understanding with the Soviet government."

BYRNES SEES
GRAVE DANGER
IN WAR FEARSU. S. POLICY TOWARD RUSSIA FIRM, NOT
TOUGH OR SOFT

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Oct. 18 (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes called on Russia and the world tonight to rid themselves of any fear that war is inevitable—a fear which he said is "throttling the economic recovery of Europe" and delaying true peace.

In a major radio speech reporting on the Paris peace conference, Byrnes also replied to former Secretary of Commerce Wallace's protest that the United States is pursuing a "get tough with Russia" policy. Neither the word "tough" nor "soft," he said, accurately describes "our earnest efforts to be patient but firm."

Recovery Hampered

Talking of the slow progress toward peace, he said "the very root of our difficulties may be a belief by Soviet leaders that another war is inevitable." His thesis was that such a fear, not only in Russia but elsewhere, increases tension and brings about conditions which prevent world recovery.

He thus almost directly challenged assertions by Prime Minister Stalin that he does not fear another conflict.

Without specifically naming Russia, he declared that the way to international amity is through reconciliation of differences and that no states should "arbitrarily exercise their power of veto, preventing a return to conditions of peace and delaying economic reconstruction."

Possibly having in mind Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov's declaration that he would continue to fight some of the majority decisions of the Paris peace conference—such as that on Trieste—Byrnes declared "no state should assume that it has a monopoly of virtue, or of wisdom. No state should ignore or veto the aggregate sentiments of mankind."

"From the Potsdam conference, which took place at the beginning of his administration," Byrnes said, "President Truman and I have worked and we shall continue to work to bring about an understanding with the Soviet government."

"Two states can quickly reach an understanding if one is willing to yield to all demands. The United States is unwilling to do that. It is equally unwilling to ask if of another state."

"Every understanding requires the reconciliation of differences and not a yielding by one state to the arbitrary will of the other."

Byrnes' report to the American people on the work of the Paris peace conference from which he

Heavy Seas Batter
Queen Elizabeth On Ocean Liner Debut

Aboard the Queen Elizabeth, Oct. 18 (AP)—Plowing through fresh northwesterly gales, the Queen Elizabeth, on her maiden voyage as a commercial liner, maintained an average speed of 29.69 knots today.

At noon, her commander, Commodore Sir James E. Bisset, reported she had traveled 742 miles in the past 24 hours. Ship officers reiterated that no attempt would be made on this voyage to break the record for Atlantic crossings set by the Queen Mary.

Heavy seas kept many passengers in their cabins today. On the seakick list was Philip Noel—baker of the British delegation to the United Nations meeting. Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov took his usual morning walk on the deck.

County Units Get
64.5 Per Cent Of State Expenditures

Lansing, Oct. 18 (AP)—Local units of government received under various programs—directly and indirectly—64.5 per cent of the state's total expenditures of $279,418,607 during the past fiscal year, Auditor General John D. Morrison said today.

The 33 counties received 62.2 per cent of the state's total expenditures in 1945, 62.6 per cent in 1944, 62.5 per cent in 1943, and 61.1 per cent in 1942, Morrison said.

The largest items last year included $60,000,000 state aid to schools, $33,898,278 in old-age assistance grants, and $22,251,327 in weight tax distribution.

Distribution by counties included: Kent, $7,783,452; Wayne, $56,327,721; and Delta, $1,395,345.

One-Third Of Food
Budget Now Freed
Of OPA Price Curbs

BY EDWIN B. HAARINSON

Washington, Oct. 18. (AP)—The fast-weakening OPA calculated tonight that more than one-third of the average family's food budget has gone out of control within a week.

And, as a White House cabinet meeting discussed the shucking off of wage controls, the OPA wiped out price ceilings on a few more items and raised them on others.

It is aiming at a November 1 deadline for lifting controls from most items still under ceilings—but not rents, automobiles or building materials.

OPA said buyer resistance remains as the only control over prices for items which a week ago were taking about 34.5 per cent of the average family spending for food.

GOERING BOASTS
IN DEATH NOTELetters Fail To Explain
How Top Nazi Got His Suicide Poison

BY TOM REEDY

Nuernberg, Oct. 18 (AP)—Hermann Goering, in a final boastful gesture, disclosed in a letter to Col. B. O. Andrus how he planned to evade the gallows by taking his life, an authoritative informant said today.

The letter does not incriminate any individual, and even goes out of the way to exonerate various persons, the informant added.

But that was as far as the informant would or could go. The letter, with two others found in Goering's cell after he swallowed poison Tuesday night, will be turned over the Allied Control Council in Berlin by the official investigators of Goering's suicide.

It will be up to the control council to decide whether to disclose the texts of the letters. A second letter was addressed to Goering's wife, Emmy, and the third to the German people urging them to have courage, the informant said.

Andrus said he did not know where the letter addressed to him because he turned it over to representatives of the Four Power commission here immediately after the hangings.

Prison officials theorized that Goering might have slipped the poison vial into his mouth while sitting on the toilet in a corner of his cell Wednesday night.

It was demonstrated that it would be impossible for the guards to see the upper portion of his body when he was in that part of the cell. But if for three or four minutes a man did not move his legs and feet, which were visible, the guards would enter the cell, the officials added.

Turkmen Turns Down
Russian Demand To Share Dardanelles

London, Oct. 18 (AP)—The Turkish Ambassador to London, Cevat Achikalin, said tonight that Turkey, "strong and united," could not accept Russian demands for a share in the defense of the Dardanelles.

Achikalin told newsmen that his government saw "no further point in bilateral discussions" and felt that an international conference to set up a new straits regime should now be held.

He said his country's attitude was "not a gamble on any hypothetical foreign support."

Turkey "could not compromise on the issue," he said.

Postwar Recruit
No. 1,000,000 Gets
Special Attention

Washington, Oct. 18 (AP)—The post war Army's volunteer recruit No. 1,000,000 Cpl. Irving T. Bennett, Jr., of Baltimore, received official attention today such as has seldom been showered on men in the ranks.

With a half dozen generals as spectators, Secretary Patterson congratulated Bennett at a brief war department ceremony and appeared with him on a radio program and for news reels.

Tonight Bennett and his family were dinner guests of Maj. Gen. David L. Barr. Tomorrow he is scheduled to leave by plane for Europe to resume his former job as announcer at an Army radio station in Munich.

HORROR CAMP
DEATHS BARED
BY U. S. NOTECRUELITIES CHARGED TO TITO REGIME
IN WASHINGTON

BY GRAHAM HOVEY

Washington, Oct. 18. (AP)—The United States charged wraithfully tonight that Soviet-dominated Yugoslavia has made "slave laborers" of at least 165 American citizens and that a number of them, possibly 10, have died in horror camps.

In a blistering note expressing "abhorrence and condemnation," the state department accused the Tito regime of herding persons with a valid claim to American citizenship into concentration camps, of mistreating them so cruelly that some died, and of hiring the survivors out to private individuals to work long hours without pay.

Many Teen-Agers

Asked how many had died, an official said that he knew of two for certain and that an "outside estimate" might be 10. Many of the "slaves" are persons of German ancestry who either were naturalized in the United States, were born in this country, or were born abroad of parents who are American citizens.

Many of them are in their teens or early 20's, having been taken abroad as small children by their parents, who were naturalized Americans.

The United States note declared that enemy soldiers captured in the heat of battle get better treatment under international law than the Tito regime extends to nationals of a friendly power which helped to liberate and reconstruct Yugoslavia.

A statement from the Yugoslav embassy tonight denied the American charges. Issued by Sergej Makled, charge d'affaires, it said: "The Yugoslav government has always scrupulously respected the rights and privileges of all American citizens. I most emphatically deny that any Americans are subjected to slave labor in Yugoslavia, or that slave labor conditions exist in my country."

"There are approximately 110,000 people of the German minority in Yugoslavia, among whom are included those to whom the state department referred in its press release."

"Pending a decision concerning them by competent Allied authorities, my country has repeatedly asked that, as provided for in the Potsdam agreement, they be resettled in Germany. On January 19, 1946, and again on May 16, 1946, my government requested the American embassy in Belgrade to use its good offices to speed a settlement concerning these people by the capital's Allied control council in Berlin. There were no replies to these requests."

WINDSOR JEWEL
THIEVES HUNTEDDuke Says Missing Gems
Were Worth Not More
Than $80,000

BY GLENN WILLIAMS

London, Oct. 18 (AP)—The best sleuths of Scotland Yard and the French Surete Generale concentrated their famed deductive powers tonight on a continent-wide manhunt for the crafty burglar and presumed accomplices who stole $60,000 of the Duchess of Windsor's brightest jewels.

Police authorities of North and South America as well as the diamond centers of Europe were asked to be on the alert for any part of the loot lifted from the Duchess' boudoir at the Earl of Dudley's Ednam lodge at Sunningdale by the agile thief who climbed a drainpipe to a second story window at tea time Wednesday.

On the theory that only an international ring of crooks would be able to perpetrate so bold a haul after long planning, gray-walled Scotland Yard was linked with the Paris Surete office by almost constant telephone contact, but not a word of the progress of the manhunt leaked through the screen of silence to a curious public.

The firm of assessors, Henderson and company of London, offered a reward of $8,000 for recovery of the jewelry and arrest of the thief or thieves, and supplied the yard with an inventory of the missing gems that read like a page torn from a Cartier or Tiffany inventory.

It was the Duke himself, who, annoyed at "exaggerated reports" that the missing stones were worth as much as $2,000,000, put the loss at "not more than 20,000 pounds ($20,000)."

Vandenberg Passes
Up Campaign, Sticks
To His Job In U. N.

Washington, Oct. 18. (AP)—Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) said today he will be unable to return to Michigan before the Nov. 5 election because of the opening of the United Nations assembly next week.

"That's my job and I'm going to stick to it," he said.

Vandenberg returned yesterday from the Paris peace conference and will go to New York Monday for the meeting of the United Nations general assembly.

Asked about his views on the removal of meat control during his absence and whether he thought all price ceilings now should be removed, he declined to comment, saying, "I've got enough troubles already."

Factory Smoke Aids Growing Of Crops

New York, (P)—Factory smoke can be used to grow bigger crops of vegetables, says the American Russian Institute for Cultural Relations with the Soviet Union.

The smoke was used as a kind of "air fertilizer" to supply more carbon dioxide in the air of a hot-house. Plants take carbon dioxide from the atmosphere for growth. The smoke was fed from the furnace of an industrial plant to a reservoir, and then piped into a hot-house containing flowers, shrubbery and vegetables.

The Russians said the plants developed and blossomed more quickly, that production increased and that the quality of vegetables improved. An installation covering 1,800 square yards of enclosed soil on a state farm near Moscow is planned, the institute adds.

CITY SALES TAX LAW ADVOCATED

Van Wagoner Follows Program Proposed By Kelly Group

Detroit (P)—A reduction of the State Sales Tax by one-half cent to permit Michigan cities to levy that amount for themselves was proposed today by Murray D. Van Wagoner, Democratic candidate for governor.

In a major campaign statement, Van Wagoner advocated the same three-point financial program recommended by Gov. Kelly's tax study advisory committee.

According to Van Wagoner's statement, it calls for:

1. A reduction in the State Sales Tax to two and one-half percent, with those cities "which feel the necessity of so doing" empowered to impose a supplemental local sales levy of one-half of one percent to be collected for them by the state.
2. Granting to cities and villages the right to levy excise or specific taxes uniformly upon the classes upon which they operate, thus broadening the tax base of municipalities.
3. A division of gasoline and weight tax receipts from a single fund to give municipalities "at least 25 per cent, double the amount they now receive."

Van Wagoner pledged himself to fight for this proposal "if amendment No. 2 is defeated."

The amendment, subject to ratification at the Nov. 5 election, call for a diversion of one third of the present three per cent sales tax to local units of government.

The proposal outlined by Van Wagoner would permit any city satisfied with local revenues to reduce the sales tax burden on its citizens from three to two and one-half per cent.

Van Wagoner called the three-point program "a just and fair solution to the growing financial needs of our schools and municipalities." Such needs, he added, are "genuine."

He accused the Republican administration in Lansing of having "turned a deaf ear" to the pleas of harassed local government units.

The Nov. 5 Sales Tax Amendment, the candidate maintained, "is not an ideal solution to the financial crisis faced by the municipalities" and is "a drastic step."

Another Industry

ESCANABA welcomes another new industry with the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce that the Worth company, well known manufacturer of fishing tackle and other articles, will establish a branch plant here in the near future.

This is one more important step in Escanaba's program for extensive diversification of its manufacturing industries. The Worth company produces flies, spinners, spoons, baits and other articles that are used by sport fishermen in the Upper Peninsula and other recreational regions. Escanaba offers an ideal environment for an industry of this type.

The Worth company plans to do other light metal stamping work at its Escanaba plant, producing split rings, memorandum pads and other items. Establishment of another metals industry is particularly welcome for in the past our industrial development concentrated to a considerable extent in the woodworking field. As a result of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce program, we are achieving a diversity of small and medium-sized industries which promise to give economic stability to this community in the future.

Happenings on the industrial front in Escanaba in recent months are highly encouraging. They give cause for nothing but faith in this city's future. There are other deals pending. Escanaba has not reached the limit of its industrial development, by any means.

Trees Forever

SCHOOL forests that have been in existence for 15 years or more are now beginning to produce their first returns as thinning operations are being undertaken in accordance with good management practices.

Rapid River's 240 acre school forest is now in the "management" phase with a substantial number of trees ready to be cut to make room for proper growth of the remaining trees. The thinning operation will yield considerable pulpwood. Only trees six inches or more in diameter will be cut and, of course, only about a quarter of the trees in this category will be harvested.

Every school should develop and maintain a school forest, not so much for the financial return of years hence but for the purpose of teaching students the value of trees and proper forestry management practices. The cost to schools is negligible because lands are provided without cost by the state conservation department and seedlings also are furnished gratis to school districts.

The Escanaba Daily Press "Trees Forever" program is designed primarily to encourage the launching and maintenance of school forests but, of course, the broader objective is to encourage tree planting by all groups, public and private.

Persons who desire to see for themselves the effectiveness of tree planting programs need only drive through the plantations in the Hiawatha National Forest. Trees planted only a few short years ago by CCC boys are already upwards of 12 feet high and reaching skyward every year. It is a pleasing sight to behold.

50 Years of R. F. D.

NEWSPAPERS and magazines throughout the country are appropriately noting the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the R. F. D., the mail service that has meant so much to the rural citizens of America.

The first rural free delivery route began in Charles Town, W. Va., as an experiment, for Congress had reluctantly appropriated only $40,000 for this program, which had been criticized by some legislators as socialistic and a foolish expenditure of the taxpayers' money. Now, there are 32,000 delivery routes, serving eight million people.

Anyone who has lived on a farm or in some isolated backwoods community realizes how much the regular visits of the R. F. D. mailman mean to rural America. It was the forerunner of the automobile, radio and telephone in bringing the urban and rural communities closer.

There have been tremendous advances in postal service in the past half century. Mail is being carried by airplane to the far corners of the world, and recently the rate for domestic air mail was reduced to five cents an ounce. The rate reduction has been followed by a boom in the use of air mail, and postal authorities are now freely predicting that the day is not distant when all first class mail will go by air at the same rate that it is now carried by train and truck.

War Fears Overplayed

WIDELY publicized differences, which developed at the Paris peace conference, should not lead us to believe that another world war is in the offing, according to Dr. Carl J. Hambro of Norway, who spoke recently at Kohler, Wis.

Dr. Hambro is well informed on European politics. He has served as president of the Norwegian parliament and as a member of the United Nations Assembly. The squabbles at Paris, he says, were greatly overplayed in the press. As a result, we in America oftentimes get the mistaken notion that another war is inevitable.

Dr. Hambro does admit, however, that the open discussions have their value for he says that at least the world has reached the point where "yes" means "yes" and "no" means "no." Politicians and diplomats are also blamed by the Norwegian statesman for creating confusion in the efforts to settle technical problems. As rapidly as the problems are transferred to the hands of practical men, solutions will be found, he predicts.

Perhaps, we become too excited about the diplomatic jockeying that goes on at international conferences.

Army Confusion

GOVERNMENT confusion has been the rule rather than the exception, particularly in the last year or two, but there has been few federal shenanigans more confusing to the public than the ups and downs of the U. S. Army strength.

Not very long ago the Army was crying to high heaven for more draftees, more enlistees, more of everything. Plans were drawn to stage the biggest recruiting campaign in the Army's history. Draft laws were tightened to be sure that no potential soldier was overlooked. Physical fitness standards were reduced to permit a greater sweep of manpower.

On the heels of the recent surprising announcement that all draft quotas would be suspended for the remainder of the year, the Army has announced that 435,000 men already in uniform will have to be released before Jan. 1 to bring the size of the Army down to congressional limits.

The blunderings of the Army in handling its military manpower problem leaves the average individual groggy. You can hardly blame him for wondering, "What next?"

One thing is being clarified from the latest turn of events. When the present Selective Service act expires, it will not be renewed. The draft law, adopted in 1940, worked efficiently throughout the war but it has fulfilled its task and can now be abandoned. It would be another grave error if the War Department tried to retain the draft law beyond its present expiration date.

THREE AMENDMENT PROPOSALS (Ironwood Globe)

When the voters of Michigan go to the polls Tuesday, November 5, they will be asked to vote, in addition to casting ballots for candidates for public offices, on three proposed amendments to the state constitution.

Proposal No. 1 would provide for amendment of the constitution to permit the state to participate in the construction of airports and small craft harbors of refuge. A "yes" vote is recommended to permit the state to proceed with and share in the national airport development program and, what is equally vital to Gogebic county, to permit the state to aid in the Black River harbor development project which the federal government has already approved and for which the federal government will pay the major part of the cost.

Proposal No. 2 would provide for return to cities, villages, townships, and schools of one-third of the state sales tax. A "yes" vote is recommended as virtually all municipalities and school districts in this section of the state need additional funds to provide essential services and to maintain educational standards.

Proposal No. 3 would authorize the state to borrow not to exceed $270 million for payment of a bonus to veterans of World War II at the rate of $10 a month for service in the United States and $15 a month for overseas service, the total payment to any veteran not to exceed $500. This proposal has several serious flaws—it does not state how the funds are to be raised to retire the bonds which will finance the bonus; it will require the payment of large sums of money to persons who were only temporarily residing in Michigan when they were inducted; and it is virtually certain that veterans themselves and their families will over a period of years pay a large share of the cost in taxes. Nevertheless, a "Yes" vote is recommended, as the veterans are entitled to a bonus and the next legislature, under the proposal, will have to determine the method of paying the bonus and also the method of financing it.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

Los Angeles: I am a Hoosier (a native of Indiana). Last fall in New York City I was greatly embarrassed when I could not explain from what "Hoosier" came, and what it means. Please tell me.—J. P. M.

Answer: All reputable authorities known to me state that "Hoosier" is of unknown origin.

There are several unconfirmed theories which I have found in old books. U. S. by Malcolm Townsend (1890): "Hoosier" is said to be a corruption of "husher," which was formerly a common term throughout the West for a bully, formidable in fights, and easily able to crush out life, or "hush one to sleep."

America by River and by Rail, by W. Ferguson (about 1860): "The citizens of this state, known as Hoosiers, who gave this state its name, are proverbially inquisitive. They are said to have got their nickname because they could not pass a house without pulling the latchstring and crying out, 'Who's yere?'"

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Chicago, Ill.—The great meat mystery has held the political stage here in Chicago almost exclusively. It has been exploited by the Republicans in every conceivable way. Whether President Truman's action in taking the controls off meat will resolve the mystery is now a political question of the first importance.

The Chicago Tribune, virtually the official organ of the Republican party in this state, carries daily front-page stories of the shortage, all carefully slanted to make it seem as though the "New Deal Administration" in Washington had planned it that way. Sometimes the Tribune makes a "News" story do double duty. A recent front-page headline said: "Foods You Want Being Sent Abroad." That scored against "Internationalism" and Uncle Sam, in addition to whetting the appetite of the Middle West for raw meat.

—REASONS FOR SHORTAGE—
There are, of course, perfectly good and logical reasons why the shortage should be acute. The whole political tangle over control and decontrol, with the interval when all controls were lifted, was enough in itself to create a shortage.

But you hear little about these reasons growing out of the vast dislocation of the greatest war in history. The meat mystery has been presented in the Middle West in terms of a dark plot by those who would undermine the American way of life.

If it had not been for the meat mystery, the campaign in Illinois would be duller and more listless than it is. And even with that thriller injected, it's pretty dull. Illinois has no senatorial contest this year. Almost the only race that holds any interest is that for congressman-at-large.

Here the voters have a genuine choice, one that has drama and keen significance for the country as a whole. The incumbent congressman-at-large is Mrs. Emily Taft Douglas, a liberal Democrat, who first ran for office while her professor husband was fighting with the Marine Corps in the Pacific.

Mrs. Douglas, intelligent and well-informed, is alert to the importance of the role America must play if we are to have peace and a stable world. Her Republican opponent is William G. Stratton, an isolationist and nationalist, who during a previous service in congress helped the America first crowd to foster the dangerous illusion that this country had nothing to fear from abroad. The shattering of that myth—if we just mind our own business, they won't bother us—at Pearl Harbor was one of the greatest shocks this nation has ever had.

Stratton has frequently appeared at meetings run by the nationalist fringe at which the speeches sound like a faulty broadcast from Berlin in the old Nazi days. His election would signal the return of the isolationist mentality of the late '30s.

How this race will come out is anyone's guess at the moment. Mrs. Douglas has the support of such earnest organizations as the Independent voters of Illinois. But her backers are not too optimistic.

—MAYOR KELLY AGING—
A lot depends on how large a Democratic vote Mayor Edward J. Kelly can deliver in Chicago. Repeatedly in the Roosevelt era, Kelly rolled up massive majorities sufficient to blanket any total coming from the rural counties down state.

But now he is an aging war horse. Just how old he is, no one is quite certain, as the Mayor is discreet on this score. Those who should know, put his age at 73 or 74.

In any event, years of prosperity and success, years of dignity and respectability, have dulled his lust for battle. His old partner, Pat Nash, is no more, and the Kelly-Nash machine is not the 12-cylinder job it once was. The Mayor just deliver the vote this time to refute the insinuations of his enemies and detractors.

But with his shrewd political instincts, he knows that it is a bad year to be on the spot. "Boss" Kelly was acutely aware that the meat mystery had a painful reality beneath all the political hullabaloo.

The men and women of this roaring, smoking metropolis do hard work. They are used to eating good, substantial food with lots of meat. When they went to the butcher shop and found the counters empty day after day, they were ready to believe the propaganda that the shortage was the result of a New Deal plot.

That was why Kelly went charging down to Washington to see President Truman. It was why he vetoed all suggestions that the voters be told the real reasons behind the meat shortage. They won't listen to complicated reasons, said Ed Kelly, who ought to know.

Chicago, of course, had an immediate concern over the meat crisis. Some 40,000 packing house employees were thrown out of work when long lines of cattle cars stopped flowing to market.

About the overwhelming problems of our complex age few people here seem to be thinking. On the Illinois horizon is the transcendent vision of a porthouse steak.

Oklahoma City: Please tell us how to pronounce Vivian Leigh's surname. Is it "lie" or "Lay"?—Mrs. T. M.

Answer: Sorry, neither. Leigh is pronounced exactly like the name Lee. Leigh, apparently is another form of "ley" or "lea," from the Anglo-Saxon leah, "an open place in a wood; a meadow." We find it as a suffix in such names as Burleigh, Hadleigh, Raleigh. (Note, Sir Walter never spelled his surname "Raleigh." His spelling was "Ralegh.")

Packing Up

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—Henry Wallace is a mild, soft-spoken, unprovoked man. Seldom does he swear, no matter how provoked. However, friends who were visiting in his hotel suite heard one of his few cuss-words when it was announced that Averell Harriman was the man picked to replace him as secretary of commerce.

"That ———" exclaimed the ex-secretary of commerce. "He's the one who torpedoed the San Francisco conference. And they want a secretary of commerce who will keep his nose out of foreign affairs!"

NOTE 1—Wallace was referring to Harriman's secret press conferences at San Francisco where he fed newsmen vigorous anti-Soviet reports. Naturally these leaked back to the Russians, did not lead to Russo-American harmony.

NOTE 2—Just a few weeks after Wallace was ousted for making statements on US-USSR policy, his successor made some dynamite-laden statements on exactly the same question—though from a different angle—at the national war college. Harriman later issued a semi-denial, but his remarks sounded very similar to what he told a meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations committee last winter.

LOBBYING CHICKENS COME HOME.
It's funny how old lobbyists, like chickens, always come home to roost. One of them, Robert E. Smith by name, has just turned up in the Nation's Capital, armed with high-sounding titles and plenty of coin, to defeat Mr. Truman and friends, just as he tried to defeat Mr. Roosevelt. It's the same old story under a different name.

Most people have forgotten all about Mr. Smith. But back in the heyday of FDR's most important economic reforms, Mr. Smith came to Washington, rented a swanky home in Rock Creek Park and proceeded to try to defeat the Holding Corporation Act. Congressmen were invited to lavish parties at his ornate mansion where sweet words were whispered on behalf of the big utilities.

Finally, Smith's lobbying nest was exposed, and he slipped quietly out of the limelight.

But not for long. He came back a little later with another high-sounding name and another game of lobbying. This time it was called the national conference of investors, under whose aegis he formed a preferred stockholders committee allegedly to protect the rights of the stockholders of the New Haven railroad, then in bankruptcy. However, a federal judge finally punctured things for Mr. Smith.

"The facts leave little doubt," ruled U. S. Judge Carroll C. Hincks, of Connecticut, in 1942, "that the dominant motive underlying the formation of this committee was the desire . . . to obtain a gainful retainer."

Then after exposing the way Smith paid a salary to himself, to his son-in-law as office manager, and even to his daughter, Judge Hincks continued:

"It will be noticed that none of his (Smith's) work affected in the slightest degree the course of reorganization."

TRUMAN VETOES SMITH
The undaunted Mr. Smith, however, continued lobbying in connection with the New Haven railroad, and at the last session of congress finally achieved success.

The last session was a lobbyist's heyday. Reactionary Republicans and old-line Democrats held almost open house for big business. And completely blind to the issues, they passed a railroad reorganization bill which would have thrown the New Haven road into the hands of Kuhn, Loeb and Co., to say nothing of lining the pockets of Mr. Smith.

Thanks to alert Congressman Francis Walters, Dem., of Easton, Pa., however, the bill never became law. Walters rushed down to the White House and persuaded President Truman to veto it.

Only a handful of congressmen had ever taken time to figure out what the bill's intricate language meant.

So now Mr. Smith is back to wreak vengeance on Mr. Truman. He has a new game, and a new, very high-sounding name—The Life Insurance Policyholders Protective Association. He is raising $163,500. Purpose: To defeat pro-Truman congressmen because he is afraid they may undermine insurance policies.

Funny how lobbyists, despite their clothing, seldom change.

NOTE—Vorse underminer of insurance policies may be runaway inflation now feared as a result of runaway price controls. It was Mr. Smith's pals in congress who started that ball rolling.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

John L. Lewis has been much sicker than his family admitted. A crisis followed his operation for appendicitis . . . All the nurses, doctors and hospital aides taking care of Lewis liked him, said he was human and considerate, not a bit as they had expected . . . some people relish reports that they're in the big money, but not Henry Wallace. A report that he was to get $75,000 from the new republic drew a quick denial. He's getting a little less than his cabinet salary, which was $13,000 . . . Wallace will remain in Washington this winter, then move to New York to take active charge of the new republic. He has bought a farm up along the Hudson not far from his old friend, Henry Morgenthau . . . Wallace aides didn't want him to become an editor, thought it would put him on the spot once a week, make it harder to stage a political comeback . . . Not content with quick removal of most price controls, Calvin Zimmerman, a North Carolina Republican, wants the government to refund all fines paid to OPA violators. He even wants the government to pay a penalty for fining them.

FREEDOM OF THE SNEEZE

In the September issue of The Bulletin, trade publication of the Lake Carrier's Association, there appears an article titled "Not To Be Sneezed At", in which the CaChoo Club of Sault Ste. Marie is gently taken to task for petitioning the government to again open the Sault locks area to visitors.

The CaChoo Club, a group of 150 persons who come to the Sault each season to escape the suffering that accompanies ragweed pollen, used to roam the Sault locks area at will before the war. Now in this first postwar year they found that the government had closed all but a portion of the locks to visitors, but did permit visitors to go past the government park property only if escorted by one of the military.

In a resolution addressed to the War Department and to Congress, the CaChooers asked that "immediate steps be taken to remove these restrictions on visitations at the locks."

Q. Must the full 90 days of service have occurred after September 16, 1940, in order to qualify for the benefits extended by the G. I. Bill of Rights?

A. No. A veteran may have spent 89 days in service prior to September 16, 1940, and only one day after that date, and yet be eligible. However, time spent after September 16, 1940, is the only time which may be counted for length of time the readjustment allowance (unemployment compensation) is payable.

Q. Would the Veterans Administration consider a baseball school a legitimate school? I refer to one of those run by the various teams in New York. Would they give me the maintenance if I attended such a school?

A. A veteran may enroll in any educational or vocational or training institution approved by the Veterans Administration. Bona fide baseball schools are acceptable. Maintenance benefits will be paid to veterans attending such a school.

Q. My wife and I are both veterans. Can we each get a loan guaranteed under the GI Bill of Rights to be used in buying a house?

A. You can. Each of you will be treated as an individual veteran. If you are both able to swing loans from your bank or other lending agency, you could get the loans guaranteed from the Veterans Administration.

Q. Will you furnish me with a formula or solution for cleaning silverware?

A. Frictional materials are used to clean silver, such as whiting, rouge, commercial pastes and powders. An alkaline solution for cleaning silver is made as follows: Dissolve 4 teaspoons of borax, 3 teaspoons of washing soda, or 2 teaspoons lye (caustic soda) in 1 quart of water. The silver is placed in an old kettle or pan and covered with this solution, boiled for 10 minutes and then rinsed in hot water and rubbed dry.

Q. What was necessary before the Federal Government could collect the present income tax?

A. A constitutional amendment, the sixteenth.

It may be the considered opinion of the War Department that public visitations at the Sault locks is a danger to the security of the nation. But it may also be the considered opinion of Congress that it is not a hazard. In this country, fortunately, the elected representatives of the people are the ones to decide such things.

FOUR TOURIST CLINICS DATED

Newberry, Munising, Marquette, 'Stique Are Sites

A series of tourist business clinics will be conducted in four cities in the central and eastern parts of the Upper Peninsula during the next four weeks, at which attempts will be made to appraise and analyze services rendered tourists this year and to learn how such services can be improved.

Four meetings will be held in each of the four communities, as follows:

Newberry—Oct. 21, Oct. 28, Nov. 4 and Nov. 11.
Munising—Oct. 22, Oct. 29, Nov. 5 and Nov. 12.
Marquette—Oct. 23, Oct. 30, Nov. 6 and Nov. 13.
Manistiquie—Oct. 24, Oct. 31, Nov. 7 and Nov. 14.

Chambers of Commerce and other civic organizations are co-operating in the clinics which are being sponsored by the State Board of Control for Vocational Education. Efforts are being made to have city officials, civic leaders, retail businessmen, tourist, resort and hotel operators and employees, garage and service station operators and employees, as well as other interested persons attend.

"Any person interested in the tourist business is invited to attend any of the sessions," said J. Milton Gustafson, commercial instructor at Northern Michigan College of Education, who is in charge of arrangements and will be discussion leader at each meeting. "We want to receive and discuss problems of all persons who provide services for tourists and other visitors. Representatives of all schools also are being invited, since educational programs are now being instituted in some schools for training of students for employment in the tourist industry."

George E. Bishop, Marquette, who probably knows as much as any U. P. resident about problems connected with the tourist industry after 25 years of service as Secretary-Managers of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, will speak on "An Ideal Resort Community" at the first week's series of meetings. Such questions as "How closely does our community meet these ideal conditions?" "An inventory of our local tourist facilities?" and "What are our local tourist problems?" will be discussed after his talk.

Michigan State College will furnish speakers for the second series, which will be on "Good Service Brings in More Tourist Dollars," a representative of the Michigan Retail Institute, Lansing, will be present at the third series to talk on "Modern Business Methods Applied to the Tourist Business," while a representative of the Michigan Planning Commission will speak on the "Need for Community Cooperation in Planning for Future Tourist Business" at the fourth week's meetings.

Ephriam Author Thinks Vikings Came In 1362

BY JOE WING

(P) Newsfeatures

If Paul Knutson had been a little more lucky, you might never have heard of this guy Columbus. Knutson was a big Norwegian who not only set foot on America 130 years before Columbus (that was nothing, really, because his Viking ancestors had been doing it for centuries) but sent an exploring party or led it himself right into the heart of the country. To be exact, the party reached Minnesota in the year of Our Lord 1362.

Knutson was unlucky because he was born in the wrong century, before there was any population pressure driving Europeans to exploration, and because his party tried to force its way through the lands of the terrible Sioux Indians. The Sioux scalped a number of 'em.

Even so the expedition was memorable in spite of its scanty records. These records are now being figured out by Hjalmar R. Holand of Ephriam, Wis., an historian whose findings are becoming more and more widely known although not yet accepted by all scholars. In a new book, "America 1355-1364," (Duell Sloan & Pearce) he has just added another chapter to the saga of the first known exploration of the American west.

Deciphering Runes on Stone. Deciphering runes on the famous Kensington stone found in Minnesota, finding and figuring out the significance of "mooring stones" along old watercourses in that region, poring over old documents abroad, and pondering the antecedents of the ancient ruined tower at Newport, R. I., Holand has pieced together a long and colorful story here summarized briefly:

In the year 1355, King Magnus of Norway and Sweden sent an expedition captained by Knutson to find the residents of a lost Norwegian colony in Greenland (where Leif the Lucky once made his home) and bring them back to the Christian faith. This expedition probably stopped in at Iceland and at the Eastern and Western settlements in Greenland. From the Western settlement, the colonists had vanished.

Acting on the logical assumption that the colonists had decamped to Vinland, that land flowing with milk and honey, the Knutson party steered south and west. Holand is sure Vinland was the southern New England coast although its exact location has long been in dispute.

There were no settlers in Vinland, so Knutson established a base of supply there and sent ships north once more to explore the coast of what was then supposed to be an island and to track down the missing colonists. Those left in Vinland busied themselves in building the Newport tower which was at once a church and a fortress. Holand goes into minute detail to prove that it followed Norwegian and Swedish prototypes of that period and would most likely have been constructed by this particular exploring party.

Followed Coast To Nelson. The explorers followed the coast for thousands of miles north and west until finally they came to the mighty Nelson river that flows into Hudson bay and drains Lake Winnipeg. This torrent convinced them they were dealing with no island but with a continent. And they began to think of the shortest way home.

Leaving a ship or two near the mouth of the Nelson to guard their line of retreat, they made a bold play. They started up the Nelson hoping to work their way south and east to Vinland.

In this spearhead party were 30 men armed with shields, swords and light halberds. They made rapid progress, following the length of Lake Winnipeg, and on up the Red River. Then they turned southeast up the course of the Buffalo river and into the Minnesota lake region, always searching for the divide that would lead them on to Vinland.

The lakes were deeper and more numerous in those days. Along their old shore lines Holand has identified a whole series of mooring stones that he is sure were used by these explorers just as Norwegian seamen used similar stones on the rocky shores of their homeland. The mooring stones were simply big boulders which happened to lie in convenient places and into which holes were drilled for the reception of ring bolts.

Later, the explorers apparently set up a shrine on a huge boulder and celebrated mass. This stone with holes at appropriate places for supporting the equipment has been located and identified by Holand.

Translation Is Accepted. Then disaster struck. The Kensington stone, found near Kensington, Minn., nearly 50 years ago, and once spurned by scholars as a hoax, tells the story. Holand read the runes fully and his translation, he recounts, is the accepted one today. It says:

"We are 8 Swedes and 22 Norwegians on an exploration-journey from Vinland through the West. We had camp by a lake with 2 skerries one day's journey north from this stone. We were out and fished one day. After we came home we found 10 of our men red with blood and dead. Ave Maria, Save us from evil."

"We have 10 of our party by the sea to look after our ships (or ship) 14 days' journey from this island. In the year of our Lord 1362."

With that, the explorers rushed on ever farther into the wilderness and into oblivion. Perhaps not complete oblivion. Holand is convinced that the Caucasian features of the Mandan Indians, their legends of Christian origin, and their mild manners and European style huts can be traced to the Knutson party and to the priest who un-

COUNTY POTATO SHOW PLANNED

Delta Growers Compete For $595 In Booster Contest Awards

The 1946 Delta county potato show will be held Thursday, Oct. 24, in Escanaba in the afternoon and Cornell in the evening. It was announced yesterday by E. A. Wenner, county agricultural agent.

Wenner said that he expected about 65 exhibitors, 31 of which will be in the certified division and the remainder in the tablestock division, to compete for a total of $595 in prize money awarded in the Escanaba Potato Boosters association contest. The awards will be paid to 20 growers who place in the certified division, with prizes totaling $290; and there will be 22 winning places in the tablestock division with the prize money totaling $305. In both divisions the top award is $75.

Purpose of the potato booster contest is to encourage potato growers to adopt and follow approved practices in crop rotation, spraying, cultivation and other methods which result in improved quality and yield in the potato crop.

The potato show will open in the morning at 612 Ludington street, the same location as last year. There the exhibits will be set up and judging will be done by Layton Nelson of the potato department of Michigan State College, East Lansing.

In the afternoon there will be an educational program presented to the growers and other interested persons in court rooms at the court house. In the evening an entertainment program, including announcement of the award winners, presentation of the 1946 potato show queen, and dancing, will be enjoyed at Cor-doubtedly accompanied that party. Besides the mooring stones, there have been found in the Minnesota region and along the route of the party old swords, fire steels, halberds and such. And in the Missouri river, near an old Mandan Indian camp in North Dakota, is another great boulder that appears only once in forty years or so in times of extreme drought. On this stone, according to tradition, appears marks that might well be runes. Someday they may round out the story of the first European explorers of the American west.

neil town hall. The public is invited to attend the evening party as well as view the exhibits.

The potato show queen contest annually attracts considerable interest, with township committees selecting entrants for the contest. Wenner announced the names of the committees in the various townships as follows:

ARTHUR MOORE IS FOUND DEAD

Woods Worker, 40, Of Stonington, Dies Of Gun Wound

The body of Arthur Leslie Moore, about 40, was found early yesterday morning lying in the woods about 400 feet east of the home of his father-in-law, Carl Nyberg, Stonington, and following an investigation Coroner Kevill Murphy of Escanaba reported the death a suicide.

Moore, a woods worker at Stonington, had been shot through the head with a .12 gauge shotgun. The gun was found on the ground beside his body. Powder marks around the wound indicated that Moore had either placed the muzzle of the gun in or near his mouth and then pulled the trigger, discharging the gun, according to Sheriff William E. Miron, who with the coroner and state police of Gladstone investigated the death.

The sheriff reported that Thursday evening after other members of the family retired, Moore took the shotgun and went out. He was still missing in the morning, and Gunnar Pearson, another brother-in-law of Nyberg's who lives near the Nyberg place, said that he had heard a shot about 10 o'clock Thursday night.

Moore was born in Gladstone. He is survived by his widow and a two-year-old son. The body was taken to the Kelley funeral home in Gladstone. Funeral arrangements had not been completed last night.

Railroad Research Men Looking For Super-Tie

The railroads, facing lots of track troubles, are in search of a super-tie.

The wooden beams that bear America's passenger and freight traffic were largely put down during the 1920s and are nearing the end of their burdened lives. Replacement needs are tremendous, since upkeep was stalled off during the war.

Now a better, and possibly bigger, tie is needed to sustain the swifter trains of the future. Already passengers are hustled across the continent in 72½ hours, and freight trains hit a mile a minute. It's vital to double the life span of a tie, right now if possible, stretching it to something like 40 years—because the cost of timber and of section gangs has soared.

Reach Railroads' Pockets

The cost of ties, not counting the cost of laying them, will be greater in the next few years than any other item of railway material expense fuel. It will probably run somewhere near $114 million annually. Roughly 6% of the nation's lumber output will be turned to this task.

Anyone who tackles the cross-tie problem must begin talking in large numbers. More than a billion ties support U. S. rails. A statistician calculates if he could wrench them loose and fashion them together neatly he would have a boardwalk stretching from Atlantic City to Singapore, 112 feet wide. Or laid end to end, these ties would reach six times to the moon, with an additional bit hanging out into stellar space.

Try to Walk on 2,994 Ties

A tie is a slab of wood, customarily cut eight feet long, eight inches wide, and six inches thick. This is likely to be made from pine, oak, gum, or perhaps beech, maple or Douglas fir. Ties are laid about 2,994 to the mile, spaced at 16 inches.

Prices of ties keep going up. The New York Central, for instance, has seen the price of a treated tie zoom 70% over pre-war. In 1939 a tie cost $1.53, and by 1945 it took $2.45 to buy one. This year, the firm estimates, each will cost an average of $2.59.

Great Northern Program

The Great Northern railway installs 100% treated ties, using a creosote-petroleum mixture treatment. Larger tie plates are being used. On sharp curves of over three degrees, ties are double-spaced.

This road adopted a program of improving drainage. In ballast operations, the old ballast is cleaned mechanically to eliminate dirt which would cause tie decay.

Great Northern also uses a special tie saw which cuts into three pieces old ties that must be removed. This results in a minimum of disturbance to tie-bed, helping to extend tie life.

The grebe is a bird contortionist. It lifts its legs out of the water, shakes the moisture from them, then folds them over the back, under its wings.

of these sections, located on the road's main line in Oregon, tests heavy traffic and severe climatic effects. The other section is located on a branch line where traffic is light, but soil conditions induce rapid decay of untreated ties.—From Wall Street Journal

GI TRAINING PAY RAPPED

Ex - Service Men Squawk About Limits Put On Salaries

By ROWLAND EVANS JR. (AP) Newsfeatures Writer

Washington—One of the many important veterans' laws Congress passed just before adjourning has resulted in squawks galore from some ex-GIs.

It's the law authorizing Veterans Administration (VA) to reimburse states for expenses incurred in approving and watching training on the job programs.

That part of the law is okay, veterans say, but the same law limits the combination of salary plus subsistence allowance a veteran in job training may receive each month. Veterans without dependents may not take more than $200.

These amounts, claim some ex-service people, won't meet the costs of living. There is little indication, however, that Congress will do anything more about training on the job.

Free Cars for Amputees

Another law, approved by the President after Congress had gone home, will allow many of the 17,000 World War II amputees to acquire specially built automobiles at no cost to themselves. To be eligible for one of the cars a veteran must have lost, or lost the use of, one or both legs at or above the ankle.

Thirty million dollars has been appropriated to carry out the act. The price of each automobile cannot exceed $1,600. That doesn't include the cost of "repair, maintenance or replacement" of the vehicles.

Burial Allowance Raised

Many dependents and families of veterans are unaware they are entitled to a flat sum for burial expenses of the veteran. Only provision is that the veteran was discharged from his last period of service under conditions other than dishonorable.

One of the new laws raised this sum from $100 to $150. Burial can take place anywhere the family designates, and VA will pay the transportation costs of the body.

Most Building Materials Go Into Illegal Channels

By S. BURTON HEATH NEA Staff Correspondent

Black markets, flourishing in wood-piles, in nails, plumbing and other vital building materials, today are getting substantial portions—some insiders say as much as 75 percent—of construction necessities that are supposed to be set aside for veterans' homes.

And these black markets are selling what they have cornered for "bonuses" that run as high as 100 percent and occasionally more above ceiling prices. Lumber is hardest hit, but lumber is only one of the many materials needed to build a house that is easy to buy on the black market—for a price.

Experienced builders say that anybody who is unwilling to deal in the "bonus market," or who cannot afford to, must give up the idea of building.

VERY GREEN, VERY BLACK

Here are some details from coast to coast:

San Francisco—Plywood, and green lumber (as a substitute for the seasoned lumber that is almost unobtainable at any price) are available for from 50 to 100 percent above ceilings. Builders and dealers are buying lumber in truckloads lots from mills for cash. The OPA is trying hard to get control and has filed several suits, including one for $1,000,000 against a concern that it charges diverted to other sections, at black market prices, 13 million board feet intended for local consumption. Some plumbing supplies are available on black market but apparently on a small scale.

Chicago—Many of scarcer items including lumber, soil pipe and nails. Lumber appears to bring from $20 to $40 above the ceiling.

Cleveland—Most short materials can be had on black market except castiron soil pipe and paint, which are short even there. Nails, normally $4.25 a keg, are available for $8.50 and up. There is a report that 800,000 feet of oak flooring, the scarcest item everywhere, is available on the black market "as is" for $250 a thousand feet. The ceiling for the best grade is $125.50 for the best grade.

YOU GET WOOD—IF YOU "LOAN" MONEY

The 75 percent figure for diversions from legitimate trade channels happens to be identical with the percentage of Southern lumber that dealers in that area estimate is going into the black market. For the most part, this diversion is from the little portable or "peckerwood" mills and from farmers to whom lumber is a side line. Because lumbering, in general, is a business of many small operators, ceiling enforcement is difficult if not impossible.

From the middle west comes the story of two western companies that have written to builders, in effect: "We have plenty of lumber. We need money. If you will lend us money we will sell you the lumber."

One company proposes to borrow on its land and timber at the rate of $3 a thousand feet, for four or five years at two percent, and agrees to sell pine and fir for immediate delivery to the lender.

Builders in Cleveland report large shortages in delivery. A man orders 50,000 feet and is billed for that, but receives only 40,000. If he complains, his next order is ignored. Considerable upgrading is reported, and again no complaints are risked for fear of losing everything.

BUILDER OR BUYER, SOMEBODY LOSES

These black market aspects add greatly to the cost of building, and they make for uncertainty, so that a builder has little idea when he signs a contract, what his materials will cost. If he has to go into the black market much he has

AIR FREIGHT IS SPEEDED UP

Fast Pickup Trucks Are Augmenting Plane Service

By GENE POTES (AP) Newsfeatures

Oklahoma City—New tractors fresh off the assembly line rolled from big cargo planes at the Oklahoma City airport into express trucks and less than 24 hours after leaving their Michigan factory were displayed in remote country towns throughout this state.

That was no stunt. Every day, express and freight cargoes are unloaded from planes at Oklahoma's air terminals directly into high-speed trucks and whisked quickly to out-of-the-way points in the nation's pioneer joint air-highway merchandise delivery system.

Service Covers State

Established statewide pickup and delivery of air shipments started recently when Mistletoe Express, operator of express trucks among 409 Oklahoma cities and towns, completed arrangements with major airlines and contract carriers to relay express and freight anywhere in the state to and from the air terminals at Oklahoma City and Tulsa.

An air shipment originating anywhere in the nation can reach its final destination anywhere in Oklahoma not later than the following day, said Clyde Reeves, Mistletoe manager. The service is so speedy that flowers arrive unwilted, perishable foods are delivered still fresh, medicines arrive in time to save lives, and replacement machinery parts are on hand almost as soon as they are needed.

Started Delivering Papers

As an example, only recently a shipment of fresh flowers was placed in a plane in California one afternoon, and the next morning the blossoms were on sale in Clinton, Okla., 100 miles from the nearest air terminal.

Mistletoe Express, established in 1931 by the Oklahoma Publishing Co. to deliver the Daily Oklahoman and Oklahoma City Times over the state, has long specialized in fast highway transport. Operating from two to twelve schedules daily on each route, it has brought every town inside Oklahoma's wide borders within six hours of Oklahoma City.

The firm now has contracts with Braniff, American and Continental airlines, operating regular schedules into the state, as well as with numerous contract carriers.

MRS. WAYNE MOHR

During October, Parent-Teacher associations of Michigan will concentrate upon the enrollment of members for 1946-47. It has been announced by Mrs. Wayne Mohr, chairman of the state membership committee, a proclamation designating this month as Parent-Teacher month has been issued by Governor Harry F. Kelly.

Local PTA membership chairman are Mrs. Fred Breitenbach, Webster school; Mrs. William McCarthy, Washington school; Mrs. Edna Bowles, Franklin school; Mrs. Ray Olson, Jefferson school; and Mrs. Sterling Prais, Barr school.

To reach the goal set for Michigan, Mrs. Mohr points out that 23,395 new members must be added in the state. There are 1041 state units sharing in this effort to bring Michigan's membership to 150,000 members.

Mrs. Mohr emphasizes the fact that PTA membership is open to all men and women interested in the welfare of children.

Mrs. William M. DeVoe, president of the Michigan Congress of Parent-Teachers, says, "We must seek not only to build a greater membership, but must strive to make that membership of greater service to our communities. May increased membership bring increased interest in education for all children."

Governor Kelly's proclamation urges an increased enrollment to enlist parents and teachers in a united effort for the welfare of children.

Vinegar Removes Stain From Duds

By ALICIA HART
There's something you can do about perspiration stains which sometimes put their blight on summer duds, no matter what precautions you take. You can often remove stains, according to U. S. Department of Agriculture clothing specialists, by using vinegar or ammonia water. Which one depends, they say, upon how fresh or how "set" the stain is.

Fresh stains, say the experts, usually yield better to ammonia water. The method of removal is to first dampen the stain with water, then to hold it over the fumes unceremoniously from a bottle of ammonia water. If the stained material is linen, cotton or other rinsable fabric, you can apply a few drops of ammonia water diluted to half strength directly to the stain. If you use this method, rinse well afterward.

If the perspiration stain, however, is of longer standing, sponging with vinegar is a method of removal which may yield more encouraging results.

Wild Wists Result
Of Self Barbering

BY ALICIA HART
Some girls gifted with deft fingers can run up pin curls as expertly as a highly trained operator. There are girls who can turn out a home-made coiff that would be a credit to the best hairdresser.

But there are no girls, however, who are good self barbers. At least so one Hollywood stylist is convinced.

The reason there can't be, says Perc Westmore, is that it's physically impossible for you to look down on your own head and command a necessary 75 per cent view of its full contours as you cut.

Besides faulty shaping, thinning and trimming, the bad result of self barbering, according to Westmore, is the danger of cutting locks too short.

As bad as an all-out hair-cut, self applied, is the conquest of strays with a pair of scissors held in your own hand, he says. As for the girl who pursues troublesome wisps with a safety razor, Westmore says she'll be sorry when she discovers what problem locks they'll become during the growing-out stage.

More than eight million pounds of fresh fruits and vegetables are wasted annually by careless shoppers. Use your eyes, not your hands.

Men Have Service Sunday Morning At Lutheran Church

A special service for men of the First Lutheran church is to be held Sunday at 10:30 o'clock. Men attending the service will be honored guests and members of the Lutheran Brotherhood will attend in a body.

The Rev. Clifford C. Peterson, pastor, has chosen "Onward, Christian Soldiers" as the theme of his message for this occasion.

The newly formed men's choir of 15 voices will sing "Beautiful Savior" and Psalm 23 will be sung as a solo by Irving Johns.

The First Lutheran Brotherhood is affiliated with the Augustana Brotherhood of this synod and it promotes religious work among boys and offers scholarships for advanced study to young men. The local unit sponsors a Boy Scout troop, No. 467 and has been active in church work. It has steadily increased in membership until it totals 65 and efforts are being extended to make every man a Brotherhood man by 1948; which is the slogan of all Brotherhoods.

An invitation to attend church on Brotherhood Sunday is being extended to ladies of the church.

Mussolini's Children Do Little, All They Want Now Is Privacy

BY FRANK BRUTTO

Island of Ischia, Italy (AP)—The horse struggled up the ascent from Porto Dischia to Forio, on this volcanic island, two hours by slow boat from Naples, where Mussolini's family—Donna Rachele and her two youngest children—have made their home for a year.

(Recent reports in the Italian Press, some of them reprinted abroad, have had Romano playing an accordion and Anna Maria serving tables at one of the island's dine and dance spots.)

At Torrone restaurant a barefoot porter led us up some twisting, narrow stone steps. It was here that the Mussolinis were reported to work and play.

Romano Mussolini appeared, and with him Italo Formichella, attorney for the Mussolini family—visibly anxious to dispel the latest Mussolini reports.

Romano, a bronzed youth of 19, did little talking. Blue shorts and a shirt open at the neck covered his sturdy body. He admitted that he liked music; that he played not only the accordion but also the guitar and the piano.

Romano led the way to the old building nearby at 42 via Torrone where he and his mother and sister live. Old stone stairs lead to their rooms three flights up. On the stuccoed walls strings of onions and tomatoes were drying in the sun.

Anna Maria—now 17—also in blue shorts and a faded pink blouse—came forward smiling. She walked stiffly from the hips, still showing the effects of the infantile paralysis that struck her in childhood. Despite blonde hair that fell to her shoulders she—much more than Romano—looks like her father. Her face is broad, her torso—emphasized by her thin legs—is heavy.

The Mussolini living room could have been that of any middle class Italian family, except that there were a good many books.

On the piano, dominating the room, was the original pastel of Mussolini, helmeted, grim-faced, from which an Italian war poster was made. Inserted in the edge of the frame were little family snapshots.

What do they do?

"Well," said Attorney Formichella, "Little. There is nothing here to do. What they want is to be left alone. Of course Romano sometimes goes down to the bar below and plays the accordion for his friends."

In Forio's main street we halted at a six-foot square barber shop where an oldster was weaving what looked like a fishnet.

Anna Maria, still in shorts, walked down the street, a letter to be posted in her hand.

No head turned to follow her stiff-legged progress.

"What do the people here think of the Mussolinis," we asked the old, shriveled, much patched barber.

"Ah, that one," he said, looking at Anna Maria, "he is the cause of all our troubles."

Hughes Gets New Title For Banned Film 'The Outlaw'

Hollywood (AP)—The Motion Picture association was notified by film producer Howard Hughes today that he will withdraw the official seal of approval from his controversial film, "The Outlaw."

The association revoked the seal last month on the grounds Hughes employed unapproved advertising promoting the film. Hughes had continued to distribute the picture bearing the seal.

His attorney, Charles Poletti, informed the association from New York today, however, that substitute title will be used, with the seal eliminated.

The body of Carl Markley, formerly of Manistique, will arrive here from Lebanon, Oregon, on Sunday morning and will lie in state at the Morton Funeral Home until Monday morning when it will be taken to Tenary where funeral services will be held in the Methodist church in the afternoon. Burial will be made in the Tenary cemetery.

Mr. Markley, who was 61 years of age, died Sunday morning in a Lebanon hospital from injuries received in a highway accident.

Surviving him are his widow, a daughter, Mrs. John C. Lambring-off, of Detroit, and two sisters, Mrs. Thompson of Evanston, Ill., and Mrs. Frank Rollison of East Chicago, Ind.

AXEL E. JOHNSON

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at the Morton Funeral Home for Axel E. Johnson, who died Tuesday at his home in Hiawatha township. The Rev. Harold Martinson conducted the services and burial was in Lakeview cemetery.

Palbearers at the funeral were Scott Creighton, Frank Beckman, Carl Beckman, Arthur Graham, Agner Dehlin and John Tenant.

Local Football Fans
Act To Bolster Morale
Of High School Team

"Back the team!"

Posters and cross-street banners will be placed on display this coming week to publicize the last football game of the season in Manistique and to emphasize that the people of this city are strongly behind the home team.

This last game, which will be held either Friday evening or Saturday afternoon, of next week—dependent upon whether the lights now being installed at Hall Stadium will be ready by Friday night. The opposing team is Gravela of Marquette, with whom Manistique has finished the season for the past several years.

The game will be interesting, because the two teams are fairly well matched, but what will be far more important than the results of the game will be the fact that the people of Manistique—for the first time since goodness knows when—will be at the game en masse plugging for the Manistique team throughout the entire game.

Tickets Being Sold

Tickets are being printed and will be sold in the course of the week with the purpose of bringing to the game the biggest representation of home town fans the city has ever seen. Efforts will be made, through the merchant's division of the Chamber of Commerce, to have places of business close while the game is in progress. Several thousand people are expected to be present.

To Provide Address System

The receipts from the game will serve a two-fold purpose. From each admission of 75 cents, 42 cents will go toward the team, 13 cents will go for taxes and the remaining 20 cents will be used to pay for a public address system to be purchased for the school.

Elks Start Move

This new interest in the home team and the resolve to back it to the limit had its beginning at a meeting held at the Elks club rooms Thursday evening, where a number of local football enthusiasts conferred with the coaching staff and athletic directors of Manistique high school in an effort to boost the morale of the team.

Dr. James Fyvie, as spokesman for the "downtown quarterbacks," stated that the purpose of the gathering was to see what could be done to create a closer unity between the school and the community.

Coach Jerry Thompson, discussing the team, stated that while he had no intention of glossing over the showing made this year, and he was certain that the wealth of good but inexperienced material that has been shoved onto the Manistique firing line the past few games will mature into a winning team in at least two seasons from now. Assurance that the town is back of them will be of inestimable advantage to the team he said.

Coach Thompson added that he had throughout the season received splendid cooperation from all of the members of the squad.

Other innovations planned at the last game of the season are a bon fire, snake dance through the streets of the city and a pep rally.

This is not just a flash in the pan, Omer Schuster, who presided at the meeting, stated. Ways and means are going to be found to give the Manistique high school team definite moral support throughout the basketball season this fall, the track team next spring, and next year's football team.

REUNION OF PIONEERS

A social event at Eckert, Colorado, recently, will be of interest to many many local residents of long standing because those who were present at it were members of the Phippeny family, some of whom were former residents here. Among these were Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Phippeny, of El Paso, Texas; Rolfe Phippeny, of Clarkdale, Ariz.; Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Phippeny of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho; Mrs. Lael Margrave, of Pasadena, Calif. The family spent several days camping on Grand Mesa at the Phippeny cabin. I. M. Phippeny was for many years manager of the Chicago Lumber Company store, housed in the Park Hotel.

This information was conveyed to Manistique by Miss Mary Lucille Margrave, well known to numerous people in Manistique, who sent the message along with birthday greetings to Mrs. W. P. Middlebrook, she and Mrs. Middlebrook having anniversaries on the same day.

Window Candles

Lighted Streets

History claims that the earliest form of public street lighting was accomplished by placing lighted candles in windows along the street. Residents of Clarkston, Washington, must have been reading their history books for recent keeping their front porch lights on all night as they were tired of walking and driving on dark streets which failed to provide protection from traffic accidents and crime.

Fire Department
Called Thursday
To A. Asp Home

Fire, starting in a shoe locker used as a storage place for the children's playthings, brought the fire department to the Albert Asp home at 107 South Cedar street about 8 o'clock Thursday evening.

Clothing hung above the locker and this made it hard to at first find the source of the dense cloud of acid smoke that filled the room.

The fire was quickly put out, but there will be some damage due to smoke.

Cause Of Smashed
Window At Peoples
Store A Mystery

Local police are investigating, but as yet have found no clue as to the identity of the party who smashed the window at the Oak street entrance of the Peoples Store Thursday afternoon.

The hole is near the bottom of the window and was evidently caused by a rock or object of that nature, but thus far nothing of that sort has been found.

Employees and customers in the store heard the crash and tinkle of glass but when some of them rushed out of the building to investigate, there was no one in sight.

Eskymos Meet Iron Mountain At Athletic Field Here Today

CLOSE BATTLE IS ANTICIPATED

Reserve Teams To Meet In Preliminary At 12:30 p. m.

Still without the services of Belanger, halfback, and Goymerac, range end, who were injured in the Menominee game two weeks ago, the Eskymos football team will meet the upsurging Mountaineers of Iron Mountain at the Escanaba athletic field this afternoon. The game is scheduled for 2:00 p. m. and the reserve squads of the two schools will play a preliminary game at 12:30. In addition the U. P. cross country run will be held between halves of the main game, with six schools competing.

RESERVED SEAT SALE

A section of reserved seats between the 40 yard lines will be available this morning at the senior high school office. E. E. Edick, principal, has announced. Any seats in the reserved section still remaining after the morning sale will be offered at the ticket office at the athletic field this afternoon.

The Iron Mountain-Escanaba game is expected to bring out the season's largest crowd. The game itself promises to be a thriller with the teams apparently very evenly matched.

The Eskymos see a chance to even up their 24-7 trouncing at Menominee inasmuch as Iron Mountain knocked off Menominee last Saturday, 7 to 6. From the Mountaineer standpoint, the game provides an opportunity to prove that Iron Mountain really got off to a bad start in its early games but now has reached its potentiality.

The battle lines up as a match between two power plungers, Gings of Iron Mountain and Gustafson of Escanaba, each of whom has consistently been his team's main ground gainer during the season.

Starting Lineup

Coach Ruwitt announced yesterday that neither Belanger nor Goymerac would be available for service today and if that isn't enough bad news, Lindstrom, reserve quarterback, who has been used considerably at defensive halfback, will be ineligible today.

The starting lineup for Escanaba will be the same as in the Kingsford game. Friets will be at left end, Schmelter at left tackle; Judson, left guard; Buckland, center; Biehler, right guard; Turner, right tackle; Schils, right end; Johnson, quarterback; Peterson and Smith, halfbacks; Gustafson, fullback.

Ready for action also will be Henderson, Hirm and Barr, ends; Johnson, Walch at tackles; Gardner, Larson and Sviland, guards; Holland, center; Nicholson, Carlson and Anderson backs.

Officials will be Matt Vanni and Art Wassberg of Negaunee and Milt Johnson of Marquette.

"Rented the first day," said Smith

TEAH, TEAM FIGHT!—When the Eskymo cheerleaders call for a yell, they really mean, "Give out!" They'll be doing their stuff today at the Escanaba-Iron Mountain game. Here they are—Irma Bartley, Joan Hemes and Toni Giansanti.

STEELERS PLAY AT GREEN BAY

Pittsburgh Is Surprise Team Of National Pro League

Green Bay, Wis.—The Pittsburgh Steelers come here Sunday to face the Green Bay Packers in a National Football league game at the City stadium. The kickoff is at 2 p. m.

This pigskin aggregation, coached by Dr. Jock Sutherland, a football magician if there ever was one, is the surprise team of the pro gridiron this season. The Steelers have shown class galore in their contests against the Chicago Cardinals, Washington Redskins, New York Giants and Boston Patriots.

Bill Dudley, former all-American from Virginia, is the ace of the outfit. He is a slippery-heeled, triple threat back and is blessed with that will-to-win which makes him a dangerous contender.

Other topnotchers in the Pittsburgh battle front are: Cullen Rogers, a nifty freshman back from Texas A. and M.; Bill Garrison, quarterback, Minnesota, and John Clement, passing ace of Southern Methodist.

The Steelers have a front wall which averages over 200 pounds. Doc Sutherland has his forwards functioning at a rugged pace. He makes frequent substitutions as he has a wealth of linemen to gamble with.

This Pittsburgh club has been drawing capacity crowds in the Steel City. Sutherland and Company have played before three sell-out crowds, and it is expected that another capacity turnout will be on hand for the game here this week end.

Coach E. L. Lambeau and his Packers returned from Philadelphia late Monday and preparations for the Pittsburgh combat got under way immediately.

Anderson-Bloom For The MAN

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

Gladstone fans might be interested to know that some of the sports writers in other areas of the Upper Peninsula are inclined to shrug off the Braves' football record as an achievement gained at the expense of the weaker teams of the U. P. They are pointing out that only one of Gladstone's four victories was earned against a team rated in the first 10—Newberry—and that the Indians are well down the list in this grouping. Even in recognition of this fact, we ranked Gladstone at the top of the heap, which brought down a shower of pooh-poohs from other areas.

For a Class C school, Gladstone plays a formidable schedule, moving into Class B for most of its competition, but it is true that this year and last, when the Braves came up with powerhouse teams, they found most of their Class B competition at the lower end of the cycle. The Braves' performance against Escanaba last year, in which the Eskymos were happy to escape with a tie, should have satisfied the skeptics but it did not. Whether this year's Gladstone team is as good as the 1945 team is a question that even Coach Cappy Keil concedes he cannot answer. It is, nonetheless, quite a ball club and make no mistake about that.

Gladstone's schedule is, of course, their own business but we should like to have seen the Braves play Norway, for instance, another Class C school but one that also takes on a list of Class B foes. We would place a few bobs on the Braves for that one. The Gladstone fans think quite a lot of their ball team and well they should. This is the first year since 1930 that Gladstone fans are offering odds on the Braves to defeat Escanaba.

Many Gladstone fans are offering odds on the Braves to defeat Escanaba. The odds are shortening, however, with each passing week. If Gladstone had played Escanaba in the first half of the season, the Braves would have won decisively, or at least that's the generally accepted viewpoint, both in Gladstone and in Escanaba.

The difficulty in proving Gladstone's case for U. P. championship recognition is understandable. Stambaugh is running into the same thing. The Hilltoppers have won four games, tying one, and are almost certain to finish the season today with an undefeated record. Yet Stambaugh is rated in sixth position by several of the U. P. sports writers and no better than fourth by any sports scribe. The reason is simply that Stambaugh has moved in a circle that has been too limited.

Hit and Miss—The advance ticket sale for the Pittsburgh-Packers game at Green Bay Sunday has been brisk, but there still are plenty of seats available for all comers. The Packers also are playing a late November game at Green Bay, entertaining the Chicago Cardinals on Nov. 24.

The football recognition banquet committee is already making plans for the 1946 blowout in Escanaba. As usual, a speaker of outstanding caliber will be secured.

Mustangs To Seek Third Win Today Against Newberry

Munising—The "Mustangs", Mather high school's football eleven, will go to Newberry to clash with them today, trying for Munising high's third win of the season.

The Mustangs and Indians clashed at the Munising playground field in the first game of the season when the Mustangs were taken for a beating, 18-6. Both teams are reported to have very much improved their play throughout the season and a tough scrap is anticipated.

The Mustangs took Stephenson for their first win of the season two weeks ago Friday with a score of 19-0 and followed up their winning streak by taking the Manistiquie Emeralds 40-12. They lost games to Graverates, Gladstone and Negaunee. They will play Escanaba's St. Joseph team in the "Little Brown Jug" duel at Munising next Saturday, Oct. 26.

Newberry's Indians, besides winning their first game of the season with the Mustangs in the opener, also won over Marquette Graverates and Manistique, losing to Negaunee, Soo and Gladstone.

Rouman Will Use Two Reserve Teams In Prelim Today

Coach Jim Rouman will use at least two complete teams when the Eskymo Reserves play Iron Mountain Reserves here today at 12:30 o'clock.

The starting combination will be Abrahamson and Gardner, ends; Erickson and Johnson, tackles; Smith and Carlson, guards; Anderson, center; Pryal, qb; Don Carlson and Perron, halfbacks; Carter, fullback.

The other team will include Elliott and Holt, ends; Kenally and Saykly, tackles; D. Johnson, Kangas and Barron, guards; Beggs, center; Oseen, qb; Dufour and Beaumier, halves; Kholm, fullback.

HARRIERS WILL COMPETE TODAY

U. P. X-Country Run Is Scheduled At Local Athletic Field

Six teams, the largest entry list in the history of the event, will run in the Upper Peninsula cross country championships at the Escanaba athletic field this afternoon. There are four entries in Class B and two in Class C-D-E.

Iron Mountain, the defending champion, will face competition from Escanaba, Menominee and Manistique. The Class C-D-E entries are Baraga township and Eben. Each team will be permitted to start seven runners and the first five to finish from each team will be counted. Leading individual contestants are Coy Tyrrell, U. P. Class B miler champ; Glenn Porterfield, of Menominee, and Robert Ostrom, Escanaba, the latter Class D miler champ last spring when he raced under colors of Rapid River high school.

The race will be held between halves of the Escanaba-Iron Mountain football game and will be run over a two mile course, starting and finishing in front of the grandstand at the athletic field.

The entries follow:

Escanaba

WILDCATS PLAY AT ANN ARBOR

Turnout Of 74,000 Fans Expected For Crucial Big Nine Struggle

BY JERRY LISKA
Chicago, Oct. 18 (AP)—Michigan's Wolverines, seeking their first clear-cut title in 13 seasons, were favored to break away from the Big Nine field tomorrow in a first-place showdown with undefeated Northwestern.

The Michigan Northwestern fracas, expected to lure 74,000 to Ann Arbor, highlighted a four-game conference card which also sent Wisconsin to Illinois, Iowa to Indiana and Purdue to Ohio State. Minnesota is host to Wyoming in an inter-sectional affair.

Despite a fiercely-yielded, 20-13 loss to powerful Army last Saturday, coach Fritz Crisler's Wolverines were tabbed to gain their third straight conference win at the expense of a Wildcat eleven which also owns two league triumphs.

The Wolves, who shared the conference title with Purdue in 1943, but must look back to 1933 for their last individual crown, ostensibly park too much experience, depth and versatility for the Wildcats.

Michigan emerged from the Army tussle in good shape, excepting a jaw injury to fullback Jack Weisenburger. Northwestern, on the other hand, may have to start freshman Don Burson at quarterback and reserve left guard Francis De Pauw because regulars at the positions were hurt against Minnesota last Saturday.

Northwestern, in brushing aside Iowa State, Wisconsin and the Gophers, displayed a fine running attack, sparked by halfbacks Frank Aschenbrenner and Vic Schwall. On defense, however, the Wildcats left much to be desired which may mean a profitable day for Michigan's flock of stellar backs, headed by slick-running Bob Chappuis.

Second ranking contest of the day will be Iowa's invasion of Indiana. Bo McMillin's Hoosiers, shaking off an opening 21-0 setback by Michigan, have defeated Minnesota and Illinois to keep their title defensive very much alive.

Iowa has a 1-1 record, holding Michigan to a 14-7 victory after disposing of Purdue 16-0. It was obvious Michigan was pulling punches against Iowa in anticipation of Army last Saturday, but just how much will be discovered by Indiana tomorrow. Many observers think Hawkeye coach Eddie Anderson will cause the Hoosiers plenty of trouble.

The Illinois-Wisconsin tilt before 65,000 promises to be a waning standoff. The Illini, irked by

Braves Seeking Fifth Win, Play At Ishpeming

Gladstone, Mich.—The undefeated Braves of Gladstone high school travel to Ishpeming today seeking their fifth straight victory of the season.

The game is scheduled to begin at 2 o'clock. The opening kickoff was originally set for 2:30 but was set ahead yesterday at the request of Ishpeming school authorities.

EMERALDS PLAY AT SOO TODAY

Pat Shaw May Be Back In Lineup During Game

Manistique's much battered and knocked around warriors meet Sault Ste. Marie on the latter's home grid this afternoon in what promises to be a David and Goliath affair—minus the traditional ending.

Coach Jerry Thompson expects no miracle to happen. Manistique will be beaten he admits, but he expects to prove that the gang of freshmen and sophomores he recently put in first line positions have made good progress in their training.

He also announces that Pat Shaw, who has been out the game for several weeks, will be back for at least a few plays. Shaw was the mainstay of the team until he injured his foot during practice about a month ago.

Pro Football Has First Attendance Test Tilts Sunday

New York, Oct. 18 (AP)—With the World Series excitement out of the way, professional football undergoes its first attendance test of the 1946 season this week-end after having shown in earlier games that there's no shortage of ticket buyers.

The first real conflict of the rival big leagues, the long-established National Football League and the new All-America Conference, takes place in New York where the Giants make their home debut Sunday against the up-and-coming Chicago Cardinals after the Yankees take on the Brooklyn Dodgers in a Saturday night game.

Los Angeles, a disappointment so far, also will be tested as a site for big time pro football when the Rams play their second game of the season against the Detroit Lions Sunday.

In Sunday's other National league games the Chicago Bears, topping the Western division with two victories and a tie in three starts, take on the once-beaten Philadelphia Eagles; the Washington Redskins, Eastern division leaders, visit Boston to play the last-place Yanks and the Green Bay Packers play host to the Steelers.

All-America Conference competition for the week-end began with two Friday night games and ends Sunday with the unbeaten Cleveland Browns entertaining the Los Angeles Dons before what probably will be another near record turnout.

Penn State Takes On Spartans Today

State College, Pa., Oct. 18 (AP)—Unbeaten Penn State and twice beaten Michigan State will come to football grips tomorrow before a home-coming crowd of 20,000 on Penn State's new Beaver Field.

The crowd, largest to see a home game since 1925, will watch a contest in which the Nittany Lions will be striving to gain revenge for last year's 33-0 shellacking at East Lansing.

Coach Charlie Bachman of Michigan has nominated three Pennsylvanians for the starting lineup. End Warren Huey, of Punxsutawney, has been named honorary captain.

Coach Bob Higgins, of Penn State, said he would start the same team that opposed Syracuse a week ago.

U. of Detroit 20, Tulsa 14.

campus rumbling of discontent, will do their best to spring loose Buddy Young, who has been just another player in defeats by Notre Dame and Indiana and even a 43-7 triumph over Purdue. The Badgers, also with a 1-1 league record, proved with a 20-7 win over Ohio State that their 28-0 loss to Northwestern was somewhat accidental.

The Buckeyes should rebound quite easily from their Wisconsin setback against an injury-plagued Purdue team which has scored only three touchdowns in four games. Minnesota figures to snap a two-game losing streak against invading Wyoming.

TROJANS PLAY CRYSTAL FALLS

Squad Has Been Dull In Practice Workouts, Coach Complains

If the St. Joseph Trojans get set back on their ears today at Crystal Falls, it'll probably be because the Trojans somehow or other figured they must have won the U. P. championship last week when they lost to Norway, 19 to 0, their coach, Fran Farrell, indicated yesterday.

At any rate the Trojans haven't looked sharp at all in practice sessions this week and several shifts have been made in the starting lineup for the Crystal Falls game.

The Trojans normally should be able to score a rather decisive victory over Crystal Falls, making its recent into prep football after a lapse of several years, but the attitude of the Trojan squad has been lamentable, Farrell reported.

BASEBALL GATE RECORD BROKEN

Paid Attendance Gains 63 Per Cent Over 1945 Season

BY TED SMITH

New York, Oct. 18 (AP)—Major league baseball paid attendance increased 63 per cent in 1946 over 1945 to set records in both leagues, unofficial but virtually complete figures showed today.

The American league drew $9,666,421 compared to 6,022,366 last year, and the National league drew $9,946,283 compared to 5,372,819. Last year's totals were the highest up to that time.

The New York Yankees with 2,309,029 broke the major league record of 1,485,166 set by the Chicago Cubs in 1929. Although the Yankees wound up in third place and played under three different managers, their total was more than double last year's 1,014,936.

Two other clubs also exceeded the Cubs' 1929 mark—Brooklyn in the National league with 1,396,155, which was tops in that circuit, and Detroit in the American league with 1,722,590.

The American league champions, the Boston Red Sox, came close with 1,416,944.

Hitherto 1,000,000 paid attendance has been accepted in statistical-minded baseball as the ultimate goal of any club owner. Ten of the 16 teams bettered that figure in 1945, compared to five last year and none in 1944.

To the New York Giants went the distinction of being the only last place team to attract more than one million customers, the total being 1,234,733. Two other second division clubs also bettered one million, the Phillies and the Cleveland Indians.

The Phillies, emerging from a long residence in the National league cellar, made the greatest increase of any team in the circuit, with a gain of 734,856 over the 1945 total attendance of only 310,389.

Each club in each league broke its previous attendance record except for Philadelphia and St. Louis in the American league, and Chicago and Cincinnati in the National.

Deputy Pays Penny Fine For Assailant

Bangor, Me. (AP)—Fined one cent on a charge of assault and battery, a Brewer man had to borrow it from Deputy Sheriff J. Fred Sheehan to pay it in Superior Court.

Justice Edward F. Merrill had reduced the fine when questioning indicated the respondent wouldn't be able to pay $1. The justice was dipping into his own pocket for a penny when the deputy came through.

LABOR RACKETS WITNESS FOUND

Detroit Charged With Attempting To Avoid Giving Testimony

Detroit, Oct. 18 (P)—The Detroit office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation today announced that Herman "Turk" Pruijansky, alleged state witness in a labor racket grand jury case here, was arrested in Los Angeles this morning.

Harry Conner, special FBI agent in charge of the Detroit Bureau, said Pruijansky was taken into custody in a Los Angeles hotel just 48 hours after a federal grand jury returned a suppressed indictment against Pruijansky here.

He was charged with fleeing the state to avoid giving testimony, this being similar to the charge now pending against Charles F. Hemans, a prosecution witness in the anti-branch banking bill conspiracy case.

There was no official indication as to whether Pruijansky would fight extradition, but sources close to the labor racket grand jury forecast that the missing witness would take such action.

Prujansky testified before Circuit Court Judge George B. Murphy, labor racket grand jury, last June and then left for California.

Following his appearance, the grand jury indicted Erwin De Mass, former state liquor control chairman; James R. Hoffa, business agent of the AFL Teamsters union and James Stewart, chief investigator for the Wayne county prosecutor's office.

They were accused of plotting to "fix" the state liquor board's action against Pruijansky's Griswold Street Bar, the target of hidden ownership charges.

Arrest of the witness was disclosed as the state prepared to open the twice postponed examination of the three defendants on Monday.

Auto Workers Will Reopen Drive For New Wage Raises

Cleveland, Oct. 18 (P)—Wage increases will be sought within the next 60 days by the CIO United Auto Workers in all plants where reopening of wage agreements are included in contracts, UAW President Walter Reuther announced today.

The move will affect about 400,000 automobile workers, or half the union's membership, Reuther said at a press conference following the opening session of a two-day meeting of the union's international executive board.

The amount of money or percentage to be sought will be determined at tomorrow's meeting, when National CIO President Philip Murray will sit with the UAW board for the first time for consideration of wage agreements. Reuther emphasized that Murray's presence here did not indicate that the UAW's wage policies would set the national CIO pattern for the future.

"The battle of price control has been lost," Reuther said. "We must now seek a balance through wage boosts."

He said strikes would not be resorted to until "all orderly processes of collective bargaining have been exhausted."

Cod Fish Prices Increased By OPA

Washington, (P)—Price ceilings on some salted and canned fish are being raised two to four cents, OPA announced.

Retail ceilings on salted haddock, hake, cusk and pollock were increased two cents a pound; choice and fancy cod fish strips three to four cents; and one pound boxes of fancy cod fish four cents.

All are processed from fish imported from Canada and Newfoundland. OPA said the increases resulted from the change in value of the Canadian dollar.

Canned sea herring and alewives (related to the herring) will go up four cents per ounce can. OPA said this increase restores the "normal price" relationship with Maine sardines which were raised previously.

New York Testing Grounds For '48 National Election

By S. BURTON HEATH
NEA Staff Correspondent

New York—(NEA)—The two major Democratic parties and organized labor have set up New York State as a testing ground for the 1948 presidential campaign.

The state's size and its 47 electoral votes make this natural. So does its racial, social and industrial cosmopolitanism, and the prestige that traditionally goes with its major political jobs. Two added reasons make it inevitable this year:

1. Because Governor Dewey, seeking re-election, is one of the relatively few men from whom the GOP will select a presidential candidate two years hence.

If he loses the governorship he will cease to be an important factor. If he wins by a narrow margin, or shows inability to hold his party tightly together, his political majority position will be weakened.

If he can produce a big, healthy majority, he will be sitting pretty for the nomination.

The Republicans would like to destroy him completely. If they can not do that, they want to lay the lines for the 1948 campaign against his election to the presidency.

2. Because the Democrats want to find out whether New Dealism will be good for the election of at least one more president. If so, their national course during the coming two years can be one of devoted adherence to every jot in the New Deal line. If not, they can begin seeking some formula for a new line for the future.

ance of Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt as keynoter for the state convention, by the tenor of her speech, by the content of the platform, and by the tone of the acceptance speeches of gubernatorial candidate Senator James M. Mead and senatorial candidate former Governor Herbert H. Lehman.

It was confirmed by the selection of those two men to head the ticket, because both have been unwavering apostles of the late President Roosevelt and of everything for which he stood, throughout his high political careers. And both made it clear, in words, that they have not changed in that respect.

So the Democratic campaign has been outlined as one for preservation and expansion of everything achieved or sought by Roosevelt, plus every effort to brand Governor Dewey as a reactionary; as one who is unfriendly to organized labor and the common man and cool if not actually hostile to war veterans; as a planner without vision and a below-par administrator—in brief, as a poor governor and an impossible presidential candidate.

The Republican campaign, on the other hand, has been aimed toward proving that in spite of inefficiency on the part of Washington, Governor Dewey has done a remarkable job at post-war planning; that he has provided uniquely excellent facilities for the training, housing and employment of veterans; that he has administered the state in a highly superior manner; and that he is sympathetic to every legitimate aim of organized labor.

The nomination of Assemblyman Irving Ives, dean of the State School of Industrial and Labor Relations, apparently is designed to emphasize this last claim. For many years Ives has been recognized as a liberal imaginative legislator. His vote, getting appeal, is questioned by many, but he is admired and respected by the AFL and other Ives . . . the GOP right wing labor line for labor groups, and there are some who wonder whether Dewey's selection of Ives over the more colorful Major-General William J. Donovan, who is an expert in international affairs, portends support of the GOP ticket by the AFL or, at worst, its agreement not to support the Democratic slate.

This would be the more possible because the left-wing Labor Party and the Political Action Committees are going all out for the Democrats, and it is felt that the AFL would like to knock down these elements if it felt that it had a fair chance.

The Democratic party is faced with a split in its stronghold, New York City, which might prove important. There Mayor William J. O'Dwyer has declared bitter-end warfare against the three men now running Tammany Hall, and with the cooperation of Bronx County Leader Edward Flynn he dictated to Tammany the patronage-rich nominations for two Supreme Court vacancies.

There are distinct possibilities for Democratic failure in this fight.

The Republicans, on the other hand, seem to have gotten out of their threatened split without serious bad feeling. If Governor Dewey had forced the nomination of Lieut.-Gen. Hugh A. Drum for U. S. Senator against General Donovan, he might have found himself against a real revolt.

But General Donovan and his supporters have only admiration for Ives, and while they resent the sidetracking of the popular OSS head, it is expected that they will go right down the line, vigorously and effectively, for the party ticket.
